

Learning Plan: Visual Studies Emphasis

Department of Art and Design: Grand Valley State University

Learning plans must be revised and updated each semester.

Process: Student fills out new learning plan form each semester and sets up meeting with advisor prior to registration. After the plan is discussed student and advisor sign form. The originals are all retained in the student file in Art Office. This is just a plan (not an official registration) and can be changed by creating a new Learning Plan and meeting with your advisor.

Learning Objectives:

Please report here what you are interested in learning related to your studio work. These are not courses, but what you are currently interested in pursuing and the ideas, technologies, and information necessary to inform your work.

Please discuss and substantiate any areas of investigation that are not standard visual art practice. It is good to record at least three Learning objectives. Type objectives in the following space.

- 2.
- 3.
- 4.

Remaining Studio Course Plan:

Beginning with the upcoming semester, report your plan for studio courses for the remaining semesters. This includes studio and studio elective courses and senior project. Non-art studio electives listed here are not approved until authorized by advisor on a separate Studio Elective Authorization form.
